Title of my painting: - Future will either be green or not at all

My poster / painting is entitled “The future will either be green or not at all”. I have explored this concept with you in the hope of inspiring change and raising awareness.

Land belongs to the future because what we do now or what we did in the past will affect or determine what will happen in the future. This is why we entered in this project.

Have you stopped to think how much we human beings are destroying our land. In fact how much we are destroying our earth? But the question is why, why are we spoiling our land for the next generation? Why can't they enjoy the beautiful things the world has to offer like flowers, fruits, rivers, green hills? Why can't we preserve our land for them? This is what we wanted to portray in this drawing, if we don't stop with the pollution now we are almost guaranteeing a dull future for not only us, but for the next generation.

Imagine what the next generation holds if we continue to polluting our land, if we continue to waste resources, if we don't reduce carbon emissions, etc. Imagine waking up in a place with no trees which leads to no wildlife and imagine calling this place earth. Earth the only place with conditions of life, thanks to water which we are polluting and to the atmosphere which we are destroying with carbon emissions.

It is evidence that the future is upon us and we as millennia's grow each day, the color green that once flourished the whole face of the earth is now decreasing each day, a new building is being raised up from the ground up.

And we, I am here to stand up for the voiceless of the minority that don't only look at what is modern like, nice skyscrapers, antennas etc. and don't only look at what has been here for the majority of our existence.

How will the world look like in 100 years? Will it look better than today? Or worse? The truth, is nobody can see but can be predicted.

Finally I would like to say that while looking at this poster I hope people get inspired to stop and take into consideration that the decisions we make today about Earth preservation whether right or wrong will certainly affect the future.

Thank you to tolerate me

THE FUTURE WILL EITHER BE GREEN OR NOT AT ALL
